

Square Lake is one of the top ten cleanest lakes in the Twin Cities metro and we're working hard to keep it that way.

Join us on Wednesday, Aug. 18, 6:30-8pm, to learn more.

Although it is still a very clean lake, monitoring has shown that water clarity has been steadily declining in Square Lake over the past decade. Carnelian-Marine-St. Croix Watershed District is initiating a study to follow-up on research conducted in 2002 to find out why the water is not as clear as it used to be.

At this neighborhood meeting, we will provide a brief overview of previous research findings and new studies planned. We also want to hear your goals and concerns for the lake so that we can work cooperatively to keep Square Lake clean.
